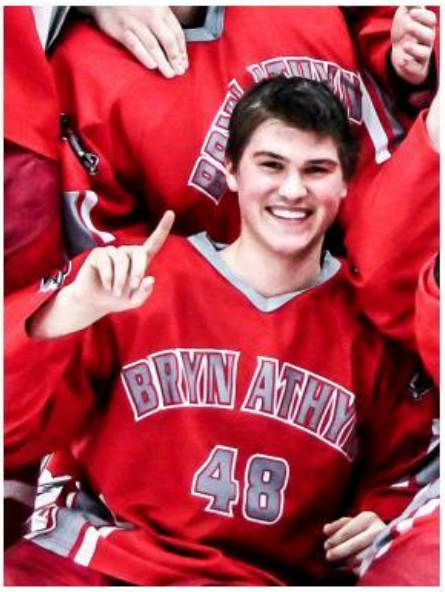
Viewed on November 22, 2023. The shots on goal on the ACHA box score are based on the Millersville announcer stating after the game that Cassidy faced 67 shots. The ACHA box score lists the shots as 40-71. Perhaps this means that the goals have been added to the actual shots (i.e. 67 becomes 71. Therefore, the shots on goal as listed on the ACHA box score have been adjusted by subtracting the goals from the shots per period.

BAC ice hockey alumnus Cade Gurney passed away on Sunday November 26, 2023. Below is a tribute to Cade that was posted on the BAC Men's Ice hockey Facebook page on November 28.



In Loving Memory of Cade Gurney

Our dear friend and Bryn Athyn College alumnus Cade Gurney passed away last Sunday after a long and courageous battle with cancer. He played for the Bryn Athyn College Lions Ice Hockey Team in 2012-13 and 2013-14. He wore number 48. Cade's contributions were a vital part of building the success of our hockey program in the 2010s. Cade was part of the teams that won the 2013 conference championship and reached the 2014 championship game as well. The 2014 team became regionally ranked for the first time in College history and therefore qualified for the regional finals.

Cade was a great hockey player and a wonderful teammate. His College teammate and longtime friend Ray Weissler (BAC hockey 2012-14, and 2016-17) recalls how warmly Cade welcomed the new hockey recruits. He helped them acclimatize to Bryn Athyn and drew them into our broader Bryn Athyn community. Cade showed them what hockey meant to our community and what it means to play as part of this wonderful tradition and rich history.

Cade belongs to the select group of Bryn Athyn College hockey players to record more than 25 points which he accumulated in just two years of playing for the team. Some of his career highlights for Bryn Athyn included four points in a single game against PSU Harrisburg on December 9, 2012, (two goals and two assists). In the 2013 conference quarter-final play-offs, he recorded an assist against Lehigh, scored in the semifinal against Shippensburg, and again in the championship series against Rowan that the Lions won.

Bryn Athyn College teammate and longtime friend Travis McCurdy (BAC hockey 2012-16; team captain in 2015-16) remembers: "I grew up playing ice hockey with Cade at the age of 5. We played on the same team for the next 15 years. We jumped around from travel/club teams but still managed to play with one another. Playing college hockey at Bryn Athyn College was the end of our journey of playing together. I couldn't have asked for a better teammate to play with. From playing endless years together and being on the same line, our chemistry of play was unteachable. We knew exactly where one another was on the ice at all times. As some might say, we were the 'dynamic duo'. Cade was the most unselfish player and did what was best for his team. If I had to pick one word to describe is hockey character, it would be a playmaker. Someone who is looking to help his team succeed and set others up for success, but more importantly his team's success. I can personally say that I wouldn't be the player that I was without Cade. Endless celebrations together after goals and ongoing score sheets reading '28 from 48'."

Cade also helped Dustin Synnestvedt construct the cubbies and benches in the College hockey locker room in the apartment by the rink that our team still uses. Cade, his brother Chad, and their father Glenn all played ice hockey for the Bryn Athyn College Lions. Cade joined the ANC Boys' School ice hockey coaching team when he was still attending Bryn Athyn College, keen to give back to the sport and school he loved. Together with Travis McCurdy and Head Coach Glenn Gurney, Cade led ANC to two league championships in 2015 and 2016. Cade later became the Head Coach for the Boys' School team.

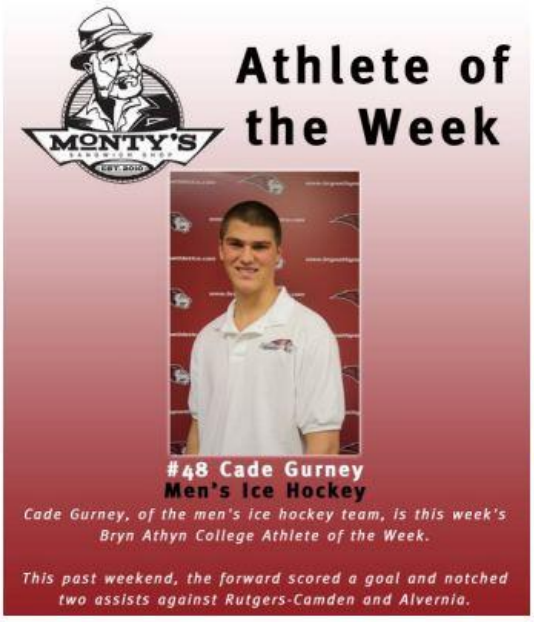
Cade was a coach for every player on his team. Whether the player was a star or a beginner, Cade equally valued every member of his team. He was a true role model for these young men. He helped his hockey boys grow up to be better teammates and better people. He had a profound respect for the importance of family, and those values underpinned his life and coaching philosophy. He took those ANC boys and turned them into a family who cared for each other, worked hard together, and had each other's backs. He showed those young men the value of brotherhood and the work of supporting and committing to family.

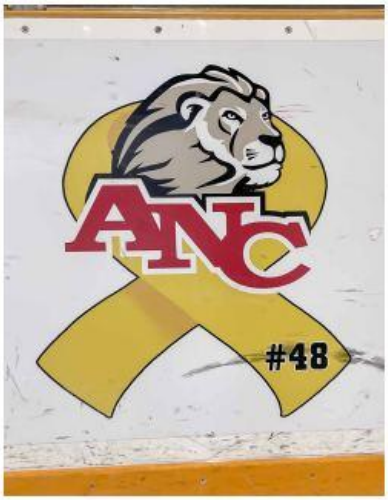
Cade's passion for hockey was infectious. He took great pride in coaching ANC and passion rubbed off on every player he played with and every player he coached. Even when he became ill and had to pull back as a coach, the players still felt his presence. He came to games and was there for the boys to talk to if they needed his insights into hockey or life.

When Cade knew he couldn't be the coach, he recommended his great friend and teammate, Ray Weissler to take over as coach. For Ray being recommended for the job by Cade was the 'biggest honor in the world'. Ray feels that honor every day that he continues Cade's legacy. He has Cade's ANC jersey hanging in his classroom; he says, "It's how and why I'm here, and how much it means to be part of this Family that he cultivated."

When Cade was diagnosed, the ANC team got Cade t-shirts. One of the players created a design to show support for Coach Cade – with yellow ribbon for sarcoma and with his number 48 (his high school and college number). Later the Boys' School team got yellow jerseys with same logo. The Bryn Athyn College hockey team also wore these jerseys in support of Cade. They did this during the warm-ups at a game in 2022. That same logo is now displayed on the boards of the Jungé Pavilion rink right next to the home team bench. Cade's name is written under the ice, visible to all players as they stand on the ice. On this first day of the season, every player skated to his name and tapped the logo with their stick or glove. His presence is felt by all those young men, and they will work to honor his legacy by working on the values he taught them.

Cade truly represented what it means to be an ANC and BAC hockey player. As a teammate and a coach, he never had a negative word for anyone. He was quietly spoken but when he talked everyone listened. His teammates and his players respected his knowledge of the game, and especially his wisdom as a man. A man who knew how to play and live with integrity.





The home opener at the Jungé Pavilion took place on December 1 when the Lions hosted University of Pennsylvania for a conference contest. A minute of silence was observed before the game in honor of Cade Gurney. Penn won the game 7-2.

Last year was a huge success. The Bryn Athyn Hockey Program celebrated and honored our hockey alumni. Brian Schnarr, founder of the program, was recognized at the home game vs local rival Saint Joseph's Hawks.

The weekend festivities continued into Saturday with a lunch reception and alumni hockey game. The Alumni vs. Alumni game was a great success! An amazing 31 Bryn Athyn College hockey alumni took part in the game, all of whom played on our teams ranging for almost half a century (from 1973-74 until 2019-20)! The coaches were Brian Schnarr and Brian Horigan. The participants represented BAC teams from the 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, 1990s, 2000s, 2010s, and 2020. All our teams that won championships had participants in the game. Our current hockey players worked as game day operations managers and referees for the game.
